THE VENNBahn

One route three countries through Germany, Belgium and Luxembourg - BELGIUM

DESCRIPTION

The Vennbahn Cycle Route, one of Europe's longest converted railway embankment bike tracks, takes the visitor through three countries: Germany, Belgium and Luxembourg. From Aachen it runs out across a high fen to finish in Troisvierges. With its mild gradients of about 2%, you take a leisurely tour through 125km of nature with that special frontier feeling, where Vennbahn folklore and historical fact are friends and neighbours.

For over a hundred years, the Vennbahn was the iron link between the coalfields of Aachen and the north of Luxembourg. But this former supply line also brought wealth and progress to this unique natural and cultural living space in the heart of Europe along the German-Belgian frontier. The Vennbahn has successfully survived a turbulent and treacherous period of history, one that sometimes reserved it a vital role.

Today the points are set for a new era. Gleaming steel rails and crescent-darkened sleepers have made way for relaxed cycle touring and hiking all along this green-flanked ribbon.

ITINERARY

Day 1, City tour at the Aachen Cathedral, one of the most known buildings and at the same time the most popular sight of the city.

Day 2, Start of The Vennbahn. The hole route is about 125km. At this first day we'll do Aachen - Raeren - Monschau.

Day 3, Continuing through the Vennbahn. In this second day we'll do Monschau - Waimers - St Vith.

Day 4, The last day of The Vennbahn. We'll do St Vith - Burg Reuland and Burg-Reuland-Troisvierges.

Day 5, Transfer Echternach village, where you will enjoy a city tour in, part of the UNESCO's monument list.
